Introduction

The present inventory details the structure and contents of the “Chaïm Perelman” collection preserved in the Archives of the Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB) under the classification mark BE.ULB-ARCH/89PP (henceforth 89PP). In 1984, following the death of her husband, Fela Liwer-Perelman gave the “Chaïm Perelman” collection to the Archives of the ULB. For the most part the collection brings together evidence of the scientific activity of its producer: items of correspondence (incoming and outgoing), preparatory notes (cards, notebooks...) and articles in various forms, inventories of texts (handwritten, typescript...). This vast documentary collection shows the major contribution Chaïm Perelman made to the intellectual life of his time.

The description and development of the “Chaïm Perelman” collection are part of the “Perelman Archives” research project, funded by the F.R.S.-FNRS and overseen by Prof Emmanuelle Danblon at the Université Libre de Bruxelles. In scientific terms, this project aims to make use of Chaïm Perelman’s archives to provide an original perspective on his thinking; from a technical point of view it is about providing the researcher with appropriate research instruments for the exploitation of the resources in the collection, while granting access to a selection of items via a database, incorporated in a website which is entirely dedicated to Chaïm Perelman<sup>1</sup>.

The inventory consists of the following tools:

- detailed explanations of the collection in its entirety, in accordance with the archival standards of the ISAD(G);
- an inventory of the sub-collection and files, including, for each file, information relating to the title, volume, languages used (significantly), dates and content. If the envisaged file contains items of correspondence, the names of authors or addressees – aside from Chaïm Perelman – of the items it contains are also mentioned<sup>2</sup>;
- an index nominorum, listing all the authors and/or addressees of the items present in the collection, and identifying Chaïm Perelman’s key correspondents<sup>3</sup>;
- a rerum index, listing the key words which characterise the items contained in the collection in the “Perelman Archives” database;
- a table of texts, listing works, articles, speeches... by Chaïm Perelman and contained in the collection, as well as information relating to their form (manuscript, typescript...), their volume and location.

<sup>2</sup> It is thus understood that these lists are not exclusively made up of the name of Chaïm Perelman’s correspondents. Due to the fact that the majority of them were not well known, the standardisation of the names by means of the usual tracking tools could not be foreseen. Only the main or notable correspondents were dealt with in this way. We respected the forms of names as they appeared in the documents and as a consequence there are some variants. Approximations or duplicates in the lists of names are still possible.

General Note on the Chaïm Perelman Collection - Archives of the Université Libre de Bruxelles

Identity Statement

Reference code: BE.ULB-ARCH/89PP (collection).

Title: Chaïm Perelman Collection.

Dates of production: 1934-1984; mainly 1962-1983.

Date of creation: 1984.

Level of description: collection.

Extent: 51 boxes, or 5.6 m.

Medium: paper (notebooks, cards, circulars, letters...).

Context

Name of Creator: Perelman, Chaïm, Pinchus; Perelman, Fela

Biographical history: Born in Warsaw in 1912, arrived in Belgium during the 1920s, Chaïm Perelman completed his education at the ULB, mainly under the aegis of Eugène Dupréel (philosopher and sociologist) and Marcel Barzin (logician). He progressively abandoned the study of formal logic for that of argumentation that he sees as a logic of value judgements which is directly useful when implementing practical reasoning. During the occupation, he was relieved of his responsibilities at the University and become an active member of the Committee for the Defence of Jews, a secret body dedicated to protecting Belgium's Israeli population.

Perelman was employed as a Professor at the Université Libre de Bruxelles immediately after the Second World War and pursued all aspects of his work; teaching disciplines as diverse as logic, metaphysics, argumentation or legal philosophy, he gave rhetoric classes to generations of students from all the Faculties – Philosophy, Arts, Sociology, Medicine, Law, Economics... He is the author, along with Lucie Olbrechts-Tyteca, of the Traité de l'argumentation (1958) and is considered to be the father of the New Rhetoric. Winner of the Francqui Prize in 1962, awarded Honorary Degrees on numerous occasions, a member of the Royal Academy of Belgium and the chairman of numerous scientific societies, HRH King Baudouin appointed him to the baronage in 1983.

Chaïm Perelman died in Brussels on 22 January 1984.

Archival history: The collection was preserved after it was handed over (1984) to the Archives of the ULB. It underwent an initial processing in 2010, under the supervision of this department, then a second one was carried out by the staff of the “Perelman Archives” (2012-2014) research project, which integrated new content (9 boxes, 1m) probably erroneously separated from the collection when it was handed over. The principle followed is, for each and every stage, one of respect for the integrity and structure of the collection at the time it was handed over by Fela Perelman. The research instruments (“Perelman Archives” Pallas database, inventory consisting of the index nominorum and index rerum and a table of texts) were progressively compiled between 2012 and 2015, date of their finalisation.

Immediate source of acquisition: In 1984 Fela Perelman donated the collection to the Archives of the ULB. It was not subject to any donation agreement.

Content and Structure

Scope and content: The collection consists of an ensemble of documents linked, for the most part, to Chaïm Perelman’s scientific activity. It includes, for example, around forty notebooks with reading notes which bear witness to his intellectual interests since the 1930s, as well as a large number of articles in a variety of different formats (manuscripts, typescripts...); minutes of faculty meetings, course programmes... The majority of the items in the collection are nonetheless items relating to the correspondence between Perelman and individuals from the university world, and, more broadly, intellectual world – be it letters of an administrative or scientific nature; or exchanges linked to his activities within Jewish organisations. To a lesser extent, there are also letters which are more related to the extra-university or associative sphere, but nonetheless linked to Perelman’s public life: loan of works of art, sociability etc.

The oldest items date back to 1934, while the most recent were produced just a few days before Chaïm Perelman’s death on 22 January 1984. The majority of the documents are from the period 1957-1983; moreover we can only presume that the collection is incomplete (as, with one exception, there are no direct exchanges with his collaborator and friend Lucie Olbrechts-Tyteca), just like the majority of correspondence preserved in the collection. This vast documentary collection nonetheless bears witness to Chaïm Perelman’s intense involvement in the intellectual life of the time.

Appraisal, destruction and scheduling information: The collection has not been sorted since it was given to the ULB.

Accruals: No increase in volume is planned for the time being.

System of Arrangement: The principle followed during the successive reprocessing of the collection, done before its description, is that of the respect of the integrity and the original order of the items when they were handed over<sup>4</sup>. The filing of the documents at the time, as it was carried out by Perelman, his wife or his secretariat, follows a thematic logic: every document is linked to a sector of his activity. In any case, due to the constant interpenetration of these domains of activity, a same item could, in the absolute, validly find its place in different files<sup>5</sup>. Due to the collection's (relative) lack of structure, an intellectual unit was recreated around the large collections.

The contents of the collection are thus divided into six organic sub-collections:

Sub-collection 1: Academic activities - Université Libre de Bruxelles: Contains letters and documents linked to Perelman's activities at the ULB: attribution of classes, faculty minutes, programmes; exchanges with decision-making authorities (Rectorate for example), colleagues, assistants, collaborators and students. Also contains a copy of the speech given in homage to Perelman and made by his colleagues when he was awarded an honorary degree;

Sub-collection 2: Para-university activities: Contains the letters and documents linked to Perelman's activities within the various scientific organisations: the Belgian National Center for Research in Logic, Centre for Legal Philosophy, International Federation of Philosophical Societies... These are mainly letters relating to the organisation of these activities, and in particular Perelman's participation in colloquiums and conferences; minutes, the publication of the Logique et analyse, review etc;

Sub-collection 3: Scientific production: Contains letters and documents linked to Perelman's scientific production. There are his logbooks, proofs of articles and correspondence relating to the publication of his own works (Traité de l'argumentation, De la Justice, L'empire rhétorique...) or of collectives he was responsible for. This correspondence consists of exchanges with editors, collaborators for the collectives, and the translators (German, Italian, English) of some of his works. There are also a large number of critical accounts of the works published. There is also mention of Perelman's participation in colloquiums and conferences, as well as invitations to foreign universities. Finally, the sub-collection contains Perelman's general scientific correspondence, incoming and outgoing, touching on the different sectors of his scientific activity;

Sub-collection 4: Activities within Jewish organisations: Contains letters and documents linked to Perelman's involvement in Jewish, Belgian or foreign organisations;

Sub-collection 5: Prizes and distinctions: Contains letters, cards and telegrams received when Chaïm Perelman was awarded distinctions (Francqui Prize for the most part), as well as documents relating to this (press clippings for example);

<sup>5</sup>For example: Perelman's commitment to Israel and to the influence of Jewish culture has an incidence on certain aspects of his scientific work (participation in colloquiums and conferences in Israel, academic activities in collaboration with the Hebrew University of Jerusalem...); on the other hand, some professors from Israeli universities, who appear to belong to his non-professional social network, are approached within the context of scientific activities (hence, Shalev Ginossar for whom Perelman manages an estate in Belgium; the two men even collaborated with a view to a Hebrew translation of the Logique juridique). We also wondered about including the exchanges with D. Rosen, of Yad Vashem, in the general scientific correspondence. From a strictly professional point of view, Perelman can, for example, be in contact with a professor for activities relating to the CNRL (Centre National de Recherches de Logique – the Belgian National Center for Research in Logic) or the CPD (Centre de Philosophie du Droit – Centre of Legal Philosophy, ULB); contact which is likely to go beyond these activities through the exchange of texts or the organisation of events (there are also items by this person in the specific files at the CNRL or CPD, or in the general scientific correspondence; if this person is a colleague from the ULB, it could also be that items relating to this are in files relating to this institution).

Sub-collection 6: General correspondence: Contains Chaïm Perelman's general outgoing correspondence, between 1962 and 1983, that's to say duplicates of his letters on carbon paper, whatever the theme – scientific, administrative...-, most probably from his secretariat. There are sometimes duplicates with carbon copies present in the other boxes (e.g.: General scientific correspondence). There is also an unclassified box of correspondence, relating to aspects of Perelman's social life.

These Sub-collections are then subdivided into files, the characteristics of which are listed in the present inventory. The items within these files are classified in alphabetical order<sup>6</sup> (if appropriate) and/or reverse chronological order. The titles of the files and sections have either been adopted by the producer himself, or else made up in a coherent manner with regard to the content.

As a general rule, the governing principle pursued by the producer when filing is the following: if the item is directly related to a single specific domain (Colloquium, publication of a work, CNRL, ULB...), it can be found in the file concerned; if on the contrary Perelman is in contact with a correspondent for general scientific questions (exchanges of texts and references, development of ideas...) or for questions relating to various scientific domains, the items can be found in the general scientific correspondence (sub-collection 3). The outgoing correspondence in the form of carbon copies can be found in sub-collection 6; some of these items have a duplicate in other sections (carbon copy in another colour), thus accompanying the letters to which they respond<sup>7</sup>.

Conditions of Access and Use

Conditions governing access: The collection is not subject to any particular donation agreement, there is no restricted access. The documents are accessible in the University Archives according to the usual methods (<http://www.bib.ulb.ac.be/fr/bibliotheques/archives-de-lulb/collections/index.html>).

Conditions governing reproduction: Any reproduction of items belonging to the Chaïm Perelman collection should be requested in advance from the department of the Archives and Libraries of the ULB (bibdir@ulb.ac.be) and from Prof E. Danblon, scientific director of the development project for this collection (edanblon@ulb.ac.be).

Languages: mainly French (the majority) and English. Also Polish, Italian, Spanish, German, Dutch; and infrequently, Russian and Hebrew.

Physical characteristics and technical requirements: not applicable.

<sup>6</sup> For the general correspondence items, it is generally the alphabetical order of the names of the correspondents; however, sometimes an item is filed according to the name of the institution it comes from, or the subject it relates to. Moreover, some of the items are anonymous or wrongly filed.

<sup>7</sup> We have estimated, at the last analysis, that a reclassification of the collection wouldn't necessarily make it easier to consult, and could even result in a loss of information. We have henceforth placed the emphasis on building up appropriate research instruments (see below), which should make it easy to find resources in the collection.

Allied Materials:

Fela and Chaïm Perelman papers (1920-2001), United States Holocaust Memorial Museum (USHMM)-<http://collections.ushmm.org/search/catalog/irn518607>.

Preserved in Washington DC (USA), this collection, donated by Noémi Mattis-Perelman and Olivia Perelman (daughter and granddaughter of Chaïm Perelman) to the USHMM, contains Fela (mainly) and Chaïm Perelman's private archives. There are a lot of items which deal with the activities of the Perelman couple during the occupation (Nos Petits school, Committee for the Protection of Jews...) as well as activities relating to Fela Perelman's Zionist commitment. The collection still contains the private correspondence of Fela Perelman (with Chaïm in the 1930s; with his friends and family...) and a series of administrative items belonging to the couple (passports, driving licence and ID cards; Chaïm Perelman's diaries...).

Part of this collection was entrusted to the ULB between 1984 and 2006, before it was finally donated to the USHMM. Its structure will be detailed on the "Perelman Archives" Pallas database, and a selection of the items will be developed in accordance with the USHMM. This institution plans to carry out a reclassification in the near future, a detailed inventory and a complete digitisation of the "Fela and Chaïm Perelman Papers" collection.

General Scientific correspondence, 1952-1984 [mainly 1962-1983]

The following files contain Chaïm Perelman's General Scientific correspondence, in other words exchanges relating to Perelman's professional activities which, either, are not related to a specific sector, or else are linked to a single correspondent for whom Perelman chose to gather together all the items, or even to put together a separate file (which doesn't in any way preclude the fact that certain items from or addressed to this correspondent can still be found in other sections of the collection; this is the principle of respect for the integrity of the collection which was followed - see above). Aside from a few exceptions this part does not contain items from the period 1953-1962, nor does it contain items from pre-1952.

Also refer to the detailed description of these items in the "Perelman Archives" Pallas database; and the index nominorum of the present inventory (below).

Sub-collection 6: Chaim Perelman's general correspondence

General outgoing correspondence, carbon copies, 1960-1983

The files in this series contain duplicates, on carbon paper, of Perelman's outgoing correspondence (probably from his secretariat). The collection is non-exhaustive (aside from any gaps in the more comprehensive files, almost all of 1961 and the whole of 1982 are missing).

Note relating to the transcription of names: Perelman's secretaries sometimes made errors when writing down the names of the addressees. These errors could be eliminated in the event of certitude as regards the identity of the correspondent, but it is more than likely that there are still some errors.

See too the "Perelman Archives" Pallas database, where you can consult a digital copy of these files.

General correspondence, miscellaneous, 1952-1982 [mainly 1952-1953; 1969-1982]

Contains Chaim Perelman's correspondence touching on miscellaneous subjects, mainly of an administrative nature: organisation of trips, exchanges with mutual insurance companies, contacts with banking organisations (loans, rankings), building companies (works in the Perelman's house), contacts with associations linked to the Perelmans' public life and, to a lesser extent, to the scientific world (participation in colloquiums, invitations...); letters relating to the Perelmans' interest in art (loans of paintings for exhibitions...). The alphabetical classification of these items, which is not particularly rigorous, is as much based on the name of the associations as it is on the names of private individuals, or sometimes on the theme of the letter. Finally, there is a separate file which contains requests for intercessions addressed to Perelman (help in finding work...) as well as, in the majority of cases, the follow up that he provided them with.

Index nominorum

This index includes all the names of authors or addressees of items contained in the ULB's Perelman Collection. Due to the fact that the majority of them are not well known, standardising the names by way of the usual tracking tools wasn't feasible; only the main or notable correspondents have been dealt with in this way. We have respected the forms of the names as they appear in the documents, where there are sometimes variants. Approximations or duplicates are still possible in the list which follows.

The names in bold indicate the availability, in the "Perelman Archives" Pallas database, of a digital copy of the exchanges between Perelman and the correspondent concerned, as regards the items in the boxes of general scientific correspondence (89PP 20-27, sub-collection 3). The names of Perelman's main correspondents, who stand out due to their fame, their interest and/or the volume of the exchanges (on the basis of the detailed analysis of the aforementioned section) are followed by an asterisk. There is a short biographical note relating to these individuals in the "Perelman Archives" Pallas database.

Table of texts

Below you can find a summary of texts by Chaïm Perelman contained in the collection BE ULB 89PP. They are mainly articles, but also works, reports or speeches. For each of them the following is specified:

- The title;
- The form of the text:
  - Handwritten (hw.): document handwritten by Perelman;
  - Typescript (ts.), with or without handwritten annotations (an.);
  - Carbon copy (cc.), with or without handwritten annotations (an.);
  - Copy of the typewritten text (cop.), with or without handwritten annotations (an.);
  - Proof (pr.): pre-print of Perelman's article, with handwritten annotations;
  - Off-print (op.): extract from an article published for the author's use, without annotations;
- The language (if other than that of the title of the article);
- The number of pages;
- The location (classification mark of the file).

Comments:

- The handwritten annotations aren't always made by Perelman; moreover, annotations by a second individual, most probably from his secretariat, can sometimes be found on his manuscripts;
- These handwritten annotations are mainly straightforward formal corrections;
- The texts are sometimes available in several copies, in various formats: only the different forms of the text will be mentioned here;
- Handwritten reading notes made by Perelman, on pads of paper, in notebooks or on index cards (which are nonetheless mentioned in the detail of the inventory) will not be taken into consideration here.
